

clickbooq. A website without limits.

clickbooq™ is a revolutionary Web-based portfolio management and design application, developed to mimic the software and operating systems you're already accustomed to using. You can easily drag-and-drop images to rearrange and update portfolios, click-to-edit names and text, and preview all of your changes as you make them. Anytime. Anywhere.

Superior Design

clickbooq was created with professional photographers in mind. That's why we designed the site around one focal point — your images. Full-size, high-quality images require little-to-no cropping, preserving your original vision and saving you valuable production time.

A choice of two intuitive navigation schemes allow your visitors to glide effortlessly through your site. And as visitors view one image, your entire portfolio downloads seamlessly in the background. Rather than a patchwork of slow-loading or broken images, your portfolios are shown in the beautiful narrative you envisioned them to be.

Custom-Built

The backbone of your clickbooq website is a powerful content management system, called the Toolbox. clickbooq's Toolbox gives you total control over your images and your site's design. Not only can you update your photos anytime, but you can also change your site's background, fonts, design elements, and content. Say goodbye to cookie-cutter templates or endless design fees — you can revamp your site's look and feel as often as you like, instantly. Since your photographic style is continually evolving, shouldn't your website evolve, too?

Smart

We know you spent a lot of time typing in your titles, captions, and keywords, so why use an application that forces you to input IPTC metadata twice? Your image metadata gets automatically extracted as you upload your images, making it quick and easy to locate specific images in the Toolbox using our Search tool.

Best of all, we don't expect you to learn a new programming language or even a new skill set to start using our service. clickbooq's intuitive user interface lets you jump right in, while our extensive Support Center and User Guide offers plenty of help if you need it.

Self-Promote

An updated website helps keep you top of mind with potential clients. Send out unlimited private Web galleries with your latest shoot, or a selection tailored for a specific assignment. What's more, the public Lightbox feature on your site allows visitors to promote your work by sending their favorite images to other prospects. You can even enable clickbooq's print function and let visitors print single-image comp cards, labeled with your name and contact information. And with proofbooq™, you can make the sale with our robust online proofing and ecommerce solution powered by RedCart™.
